CITIZENS MAY MOVE TO TOKYO; JAPANESE SHELLING SHANGHAI

Desperate Battle Going on Today With Naval Guns Put Into Play By Nipponese; Censorship Is Placed On Cable Dispatched From China; Shells Fall Near Italian Ship.

BY INTERNATIONAL NEWS SERVICE.

Early evacuation of American residents from Shanghai loomed today with reports from Tokyo that United States Ambassador W. Cameron Forbes had been instructed to quarter Shanghai's American community in the Japanese capital if evacuation became necessary.

A desperate battle between Chinese and Japanese forces continued at Shanghia, no gain for either side being reported six hours after the Japanese launched a new offensive bringing naval guns into play in Shanghia for the first time.

China clamped down a rigid censorship on outgoing cables over the Great Northern route.

The League of Nations council met in Geneva, where J. H. Thomas, British dominions minister, vigorously denounced the attack upon Shanghia and described the situation there as "war in everything but name."

Despite the gathering war clouds, the general disarmament conference under league auspices was scheduled to open at 3:30 p. m.

In an exculsive interview with Floyd Gibbons, International News Service correspondent at Shanghia Japanese Admiral Shiozsawa vigorously denied that any Japanese marines had been landed at Nanking former captial of the Chinese republic. This report widely published yesterday, was not carried by International News Service from any of its correspondents in China.

LONDON, Feb. 2 — The Great Northern cable company announced at 1 o'clock this afternoon (8 a. m. Eastern Standard time) that a censorship has been imposed on cable dispatches from China.

SHANGHAI, Feb. 2 — 10.52 p. m. — Four shells fell near the Italian cruiser Libya in the Whangpoo river during the Sino-Japanese fighting here tonight.

The commander immediately reported the occurrences to millitary headquarters and requested that adequate steps be taken to prevent a repetition.

SHANGHAI, Feb. 2 — 11 p. m. A lull developed in the firing between Chinese and Japanese troops in Chapei shortly before 11 p. m. tonight.

The Chinese were reported retreating, but the Japanese had made no advance up to that hour.

WORLD ARMS CONFERENCE BEGINS TODAY

War Clouds Hang Low As Meeting Opens; Henderson Is In Charge.

BULLETIN

GENEVA, Feb. 2.—With the Sino-Japanese war clouds casting a pall over the deliberations the general disarmament conference opened here at 4:30 p. m. today with an address of welcome by Arthur Henderson of Great Britain and adjourned less than two hours later after appointment of permanent committees.

GENEVA, Feb. 2.—Representatives of three score nations met here today for the opening of the long-planned League of Nations world disarmament conference.

GUNS BAD OMEN

With all agreed that the most to be expected fo the conference was a step toward some future definite agreement for the limitation of armaments, the booming of guns in the Far East sounded through the league chambers as a particularly bad omen.

Ambassador Hugh Gibson and Hugh R. Wilson, present leaders of the American delegation, are in a passive role at least for a time. The entangled problems of the European nations alone offer plenty to be worked upon.

Advisor Warns Of Jap Move

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—Japan will subjugate China and use million of Chinese troops to conquer the United States unless the great nations of the earth halt her military program now, Judge Paul M. Linebarger, legal advisor to the Chinese national government, declared today before the senate judiciary committee.

Linebarger urged, the committee to recommend an international conference to end extra territoriality in China "so the Chinese government can become a real sovereignty and end the Japanese menace."

He declared Japan meant to "devour China."

"If you want my opinion," continued Senator Borah, Republican of Idaho, chairman of the senate foreign relations committee, "I think it is more likely that the 450,000,000 Chinese will swallow up the Japs if they ever get over there."

BED TIME TALE BLASTED TODAY

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 2.—Another old-time bed-time story was blasted today.

Edward Sinclair Thomas, curator of natural history at the Ohio State museum, declares that February 2 isn't ground-hog day; that any sensible ground-hog is sleeping soundly and won't be out of his underground burrow until February 7.

Well, if he would have come out of his burrow today, he wouldn't have seen his shadow—so what's the difference.

BIRTHS

WHY A CORN-COB? UPKEEP IS CHEAP

Now we know why Judge J. W. Adkins smokes a corn-cob pipe.

His Honor was in his office early Tuesday in preparation for the second day of the Walker Brown trial and, enjoying the freedom of early hours, was puffing away on his con-cob pipe when asked, "Why a corn-cob, Judge?"

The reply was, "It's just like a family eating greens, cheap upkeep."

OFFICIALS OF U. S. WATCHING JAP PROGRESS

Tenseness Felt While Arrival of Additional Protection Is Awaited.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—Tense expectancy gripped officials of the United States government as they watched press reports of developments on the "war front" in the Shanghai area.

The question of evacuating American civilians from Shanghai and other danger ports along the Chinese coast and up the Yangtze river thrust itself to the forefront while authorities were awaiting the arrival at Shanghai of additional reinforcements of American and British forces.

MOVE UNNECESSARY

Generally, officials do not believe such move will be necessary.

Although they are prepared to act they do not believe the Japanese, with the immense commercial-financial stake they have invested in Shanghai will either evacuate their civilian nationals or subject the city to a large-scale bombardment.

They base their hopes for the safety of American and other foreign lives in the international settlement, for the present, upon the fact that Japanese subjects have investments there totaling almost $100,000,000 American money.

It was admitted that the period pending the arrival of the strong force of American naval vessels and the 31st U. S. army infantry, as well as the additional British naval and military reinforcements, is one of nervous expectancy.

THINK CRISIS PAST

Their feeling, based upon hope, is that the crisis has passed; that it passed with the announcement

STATE DEMOS. EXPECTED TO FAVOR WHITE

State Central Committee Together; Submit Brunner's 'Harmony Program'

STUDY DELEGATES

White's Economical Plan Gains Favor

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 2.—The administration of Gov. George White is expected to be endorsed by the Democratic state central committee at its session here this afternoon.

Resolutions endorsing the White administration and the "harmony" program of Henry G. Brunner, Mansfield, chairman of the Democratic state executive committee, it was understood, will be submitted to the central committee today.

The primary object of the meeting today, however, is the determination of the ratio which will serve as the basis for fixing the number of delegates, to be elected at the May 10 primaries, to the Democratic state convention.

The call for today's meeting was sent out last week by Earl H. Hanefeld, of Ottawa, chairman of the state central committee.

Activities of Governor White and members of his cabinet on behalf of an economical administration of state governmental operations, and in plans for affording relief to destitute families of unemployed workers throughout the state are expected to feature any endorsement of Governor White's administration that may be given by the committee.

The committee, it was intimated, may place its stamp of approval upon the "harmony" program, originated by Chairman Brunner, whereby the Democrats in the various congressional districts throughout the state are selecting "White" delegates to the Democratic national convention at Chicago next June.

ASSASSIN MOB MURDERS TRIO

Fourth Person Expected To Die After Gangsters Invade Merry Party Monday.

NEW YORK, Feb. 2. — New York's deadliest and most ruthless underworld execution in which an assassin squad mowed down a group of Vincent Coll adherents as they made merry at a party reached out a deathly hand for its fourth victim today.

With one woman, mother of three children, and two men left dead on the scene of the carnage in the dining room of a Bronx house, and another woman and two men injured, doctors at a hospital said that Louis Basile, 40, one of those shot, was in a dying condition.

There were nine adults and four or five children in the home where the party was held.

Just as the gathering prepared to sit down to table late last night, four gunmen believed to be allied with the "Dutch" Schultz gang, rivals of Coil, invaded the room.

THREE FALL DEAD

They blazed away at the terror-stricken victims with automatics. Before the victims could defend themselves or escape, three of them, including a woman, fell dead before the withering fire. Before the invaders had emptied their guns, three others were wounded.

The killers, their deadly minute's work over, fled downstairs and raced off in an automobile waiting near the house.

CITIES STUDY AID PROBLEMS

Ways and Means of Solving Financial Difficulties Up To Ohio Cities.

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 2.—Thrown upon their own resources, Ohio cities today dug into the task of finding ways and means of solving financial and relief problems.

Conferences were being held in several of the state's larger cities, where, it was expected, campaigns will soon be gotten under way to raise nearly $21,000,000 to tide the communities through the present year.

The call to solve their own problems was made to the individual communities by Governor George White, who declared that local efforts would prove speedier than anything a special session of the state legislature could do.

New Community Chest drives were being considered at Dayton and Cleveland and at Canton an emergency drive to raise $150,000 was started by an army of men and women solicitors.

WEBB IS AGAIN JACKSON MAYOR

JACKSON, O., Feb. 2 — "In again-out-again" Thomas Webb was in again as mayor of Jackson today.

Judge Benner Jones, who only five weeks ago removed Webb, a Democrat, from office on charges of misconduct in connection with giving liquor to a minor, returned him to the position late yesterday.

The ruling was handed down after Judge Jones found that 40 irregular votes were cast in last November's election for Theodore Waters, Republican, who defeated Webb, seeking re-election, by six votes.

CHALLENGE ELECTORS

The case was taken to court when Webb challenged the legality of Water's election.

Shortly before Webb's administration expired, his removal was sought in a petition signed by 300 citizens who charged malfeasance misfeasance and misconduct in office. Judge Jones convicted Webb and removed him from office. Two days later Waters was inaugurated.

Now, after one month's service as mayor, Waters today found himself removed from office and Webb again occupying the mayoralty chair. According to Judge Jones' ruling, Webb was elected at the November elections by a majority of at least two and possibly 24 votes.

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 2.—Ben Rudner, Ohio penitentiary "lifer" convicted of second degree murder in connection with the assassination of Don R. Mellett crusading Canton publisher, today lost an appeal for executive clemency from Governor George White.

STATE CALLS WITNESSES IN BROWN TRIAL

Mrs. Charles Grice to Begin Testimony in Negro's Trial Late This Afternoon; Jurors Visit Hanford Village and Kidney Home Today; 14 on State's List

Witnesses called by the state in the trial of Walker Brown, 24, negro, charged with the murder of John Kidney, were to begin to testify in Judge Joseph W. Adkins' court late this afternoon after the jurors had completed visits to Hanford village, negro settlement, home of four of the five men held here, and the Kidney residence, the scene of the crime.

Mrs. Charles Grice, of Grange Hall, was to be the first witness. It was she who walked into the Kidney home at 2:15 p. m. Dec. 10, 11 hours after the robbery and attack which caused John Kidney's death, and found the aged farmer and his invalid sister, Sarah, lying on the floor after being beaten.

VISIT TWO PLACES

The 13 jurors, 12 regular and one alternate, were taken to Hanford village this morning to view the residences of the different men connected with the case after Charles Gerhardt, assistant state attorney, asserted before the court late Monday that Hanford village was one of the principal factors in the alleged conspiracy through which Mr. Kidney met his death. His desire to have the jurors taken there was granted. George G. Adkins, defense counsel, and Walker Brown accompanied the jurors.

Jurors visited three different buildings in Hanford, first going to the Due Drop Inn, restaurant operated by Frank Smith until his arrest, and the place where the alleged spoils were divided after the robbery. The restaurant has been closed and all its contents removed and sold.

VISIT HOMES

From this scene, the party went to the home of Lacey Adams, another alleged conspirator, where the plot was said to have been formed. From Adams' home the jurors were taken by Sheriff Charles Radcliff to a rooming house where Walker Brown was said to have lived. Several outbuildings in the rear of the main street were inspected. In one of these a shotgun said to have belonged to John Kidney was found.

Brown continued to chew his tobacco and while jurors were visiting the Due Drop Inn he stood with one foot on the bumper of his attorney's car. He refused when Deputy Sheriff Larry Van Skaik of Franklin-co offered to shake his hand.

The group returned here for lunch and immediately left for Monroe-twp to visit the Kidney home.

Upon the return of the party witnesses were to be called to the stand, according to Judge Adkins.

Automobiles were driven by Sheriff Charles Radcliff, James Davidson, Gilbert Crawford and Virgil May, carrying jurors, with E. L. Crist and Charles Gerhardt going in the latter's car and George G. Adkins, Walker Brown, and two deputy sheriffs in the former's automobile.

WARN DRIVERS

Judge Adkins warned drivers of the automobiles to be exceedingly careful about traveling on the slippery highways, especially on the trip to the Kidney home where the gravel roads were dangerously slippery.

The court admonished all parties interested in the case, Tuesday morning, that time is an important matter and that every minute counts. A short time was taken Tuesday morning while three women members of the jury purchased overshoes. The judge did not censure the women for their act but informed everyone that when ordered to report at 9 a. m. that order meant 9 a. m. and not 15 minutes or 30 minutes later.

WITNESS CALLED

Prosecutor Emmitt L. Crist filed his list of witnesses with Clerk of Courts Ferd M. Pickens Tuesday morning with some of them to be summoned for duty this afternoon. Mrs. Grice, Clayton R. McDaniel, Mrs. Clayton R. McDaniel of Monroe-twp and Kenneth A. Doty of Grove City have been called for this afternoon's session. Witnesses called for Wednesday at 9 a. m. are Larry Van Skaik O. B. Walker and Charles Goins, the latter colored, all deputies in the office of Sheriff Harry Paul, Franklin-co; William Gerrish, 478 S. Yale-ave, Columbus, Dr. Frank Watkins, White Cross hospital, Dr. Robert Trimble, Mt. Sterling, Dr. C. E. Bowers, Pickaway-co

PLANES LOST, HUNT STARTS

Five Persons Feared Lost In South Atlantic; Rescue Plane Reported Lost.

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 2.—United States coast guard vessels combed the south Atlantic today, searching for some trace of an airliner which vanished with five persons aboard.

The plane, one of the fleet of Bimini Airways company ships, disappeared last night after starting for the Bahamas on a regular scheduled flight. It carried four passengers and the pilot, Val Chick.

Passengers on the missing plane were Philip Manes, a local business man, and three of his employes. One of the employees was known as "George," a second as "Northerner," and the third was a negro named Allen.

Fears were felt that the ship might have plunged into the ocean during the night.

A search of the waters was begun after company officials here were advised that the ship failed to reach its destination, Bimini, Bahamas.

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 2.—A second airplane with a human cargo had disappeared today in the treacherous Tehachapi mountains of southern California.

The second ship was an army bomber which was aiding in the search for the giant passenger airliner that vanished Friday while enroute from San Francisco to Los Angeles with eight persons, including three women, aboard.

On the bomber were Lieuts. Edward D. Hoffman and W. A. Cocke, Jr. It left Glendale at 8 a. m., yesterday intending to search over the snowy Tehachapis enroute to Crissy field, San Francisco.

Watch Yankees Warns Johnson

By James L. Kilgallen

NEW YORK, Feb. 2 — "If the A's slip in the 1932 pennant race, watch the Yanks."

This was the admonition today of Walter Johnson, manager of the Washington senators, the third-place club in 1931 in the American league pennant derby. Johnson was among the horde of baseball leaders gathered in the loby of the hotel were the moguls discussed routine business matters such as the playing schedule and synthetic double headers.

BASEBALL IN AIR

Johnson was one among scores of baseball men who milled about the loby, chatting about their favorite subject — baseball. There was a little talk about trades but not much, as every manager said the other fellow wanted something for nothing. Everybody said Hack Wilson, who came to town to sign with Brooklyn for $16,500 for 1932, looked to be in fine shape. There was some comment on Babe Ruth's departure for Flordia to get in condition and would he have to take a cut from his $80,000 salary of last year?

But most of the conversation was about the coming penant races. Johnson discussed the situation in his league freely

"I look for a great race in 1932 said Johnson "I think the second division clubs will be stronger against the A's this year.

"The A's in my opinion, got a lot taken out of them in the world series. If they slip, watch those Yanks. And our club will have to be reckoned with, too.

"You know, the A's can't afford to have any of their veterians like Cochrane, Simmons or Foxx slip. Cochrane didn't look any too good in the world series but I think he will come back. He's a real star But the A's are no sure thing this coming season by any means."

In praising the power of the New York Yankees. Johnson said be believed Lary, the Yanks' shortstop, "is ready to be a great ball player.".

He thinks Chapman will help revive the art of base running. He thinks the batting of Gehrig and Ruth will be a real menance to all clubs. In discussing Ruth he said the Bambino has plenty of high class baseball left in him. He described Ruth as "smart," saying he never saw him throw to a wrong base or made a dumb play.

Johnson said he disagreed with Manager John McGraw of the New York Giants on how to manage a ball club He declared he does not believe in the policy of thinking for ball players.

"I let them think for themselves until they show me they can't think for themselves," was the way Ol'Walter, himself once one of the greatest pitchers in baseball, put it.

Johnson predicted that the acquisition of outfielder Carl Reynolds, obtained in a trade with Chicago would help the Washington club"

BLOOM VICTOR

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 2 —Lou Bloom's faithful left hand was responsible for his holding the Columbus lightweight boxing championship today. He retained the mythical belt by out-pointing Jackie Hoster last night.

Tiger (Kid) Walker, 133 1-2, Zanesville mitt thrower, decisioned Jimmy Collins, of Toledo, after eight rounds of slugging. Steve Demter, former heavyweight champion of the United States Navy, added Walter Bash, of Zanesville, to his long string of kayo wins. Bash retired to dreamland in the second.

Carl Turner, local negro battler, easily defeated Eddie Allen Springfield, and Johnny Ballerino, East High School product, scored a technical kayo over Battling Jack Wagner, Lancaster lightweight, in the opener.

PETROLLE DELAYS CANZONERI BOUT

NEW YORK, Feb. 2 — Billy Petrolle, welterweight sensation from Fargo, N. D. has been vainly seeking a crack at a boxing title throughout his lengthy career — yet today he had turned down an offer to meet Tony Canzoneri, ligthweight champion, at Madison Square Garden on Feb. 26.

Although Canzoneri had signed to meet him, Petrolle explained he would prefer to postpone the meeting until summer because the match would draw twice as much outdoors. The bout will be the Garden's first outdoor headliner at one of the New York ball parks.

Meanwhile Promoter J. J. Johnston of the garden was negotiating for a bout between Petrolle and Jackie Field's welterweight champion. If this falls through, Johnson plans to pit Petrolle against his archrival, Jimmy McClarnin.

The garden also is awaiting word from Mickey Walker as to whether he will meet the winner of Friday's night's bout getween Ernie Schaaf, Boston heavyweight, and Paulino Uzcudun.

WILSON SIGNS

NEW YORK, Feb 2 — Hack Wilson, former home run king, will get a flat salary of $16.500 from the Brooklyn Dogers this year.

President Frank York of the Dogers suggested a one-year-contract at that figure instead of a $15,000 contract with a bonus clause. It took the pudgy outfielder just thirty seconds to agree to proposition.

Wilson celebrated the signing by stepping on Eberts field and driving several baseballs out of the frozen lot.

Prominent Figures in Japanese Crisis

W. CAMERON FORBES.

EMPEROR HIROHITO.

KENKICHI YOSHIZAWA.

AMBASSADOR DEBUCHI.

Behind the scenes of the military operations at Shanghai and in Manchuria are the diplomats in Tokio, whose job it is to avoid antagonizing other countries with interests in China. Here are four personalities playing big roles in the diplomatic arena. W. Cameron Forbes, American Ambassador to Tokio, has a most difficult position because of the strong protests made by our State Department. Emperor Hirohito is said to be personally directing his diplomatic staff through the offices of Yoshizawa, Japanese Foreign Minister. Katsuji Debuchi, Japanese Ambassador to the United States, is another busy diplomat, having almost daily conferences with Secretary of State Stimson.

Protecting Americans in Shanghai

The safety of American lives and property in wartorn Shanghai hangs on the oft-proven courage of the Fourth Regiment of the United States Marines, shown above marching through the foreign settlement. The Japanese occupation of the city having met with unexpected resistance from the Chinese, fighting has broken out in Chapei, the native section on the outskirts of Shanghai, and U. S. Marines and British Tommies are standing ready to defend the lives and property of their fellow countrymen and women. U. S. warships are speeding to the scene to render aid in case of emergency coroner, and Austin Davis, Wendell Davis and Phil Yinger of Monroe-twp.

Only a handful of spectators were on hand this morning to see the jurors begin their trip to Hanford village.

Only 25 of the 65 county residents drawn on the special venire were examined before the jury was completed and sworn in at 4:45 p. m. Monday. Eight more were called before the alternate juror was chosen.

Court, attorneys and spectators were surprised with the speed in which a jury was obtained.

After the jury box had been filled counsel for both the state and defense used but one peremptory challenge each and both were directed at one jury position, that of the twelfth juror. Each side was entitled to six peremptories.

CHALLENGE WARNER

When the jury box was filled Jerome Warner, Washington-twp was twelfth juror. State's attorneys waived their first challenge and defense counsel removed Mr. Warner.

Mrs. Dorothy McGhee of Williamsport was questioned and seated on the jury. Counsel for the state removed Mrs. McGhee on their first challenge. D. S Dunlap Circleville, was examined and testified he had formed an opinion from newspaper accounts of the case. Defense Attorney George Adkins asked he be removed for cause and his request was granted by Judge Adkins He was followed by Mr Rader

Counsel for both state and defense then passed the jury and exercised no more challenges.

Carl Seitz, Circleville music dealer was excused by the judge from the position of thirteenth juror when he testified he had an opinion that could not be altered. Horten G. Guy, Derby, retired farmer, was excused when he said he had an opinion.

CLARRIDGE EMPHATIC

John Clarridge, Monroe-twp farmer, said he had attended the funeral for Mr Kidney and lived about five miles from the scene of the brutal slaying. When asked if he had any opinion concerning the case his reply was "Most everybody has one out there" He was excused.

J. D Hummel, Circleville insurance agent was excused because of an opinion which he testified was expressed in the office of Emmitt L Crist, county prosecutor Mrs Elizabeth Tootle of Monroe-twp, was excused at the agreement of both counsel when they learned her home was within five miles of the scene of the murder. Mrs Fred Tipton of Deercreek-twp and Ward Peck of Wayne-twp were both excused for cause She was followed by Mrs May who was seated as the thirteenth juror

Neither side used a peremptory challenge on the alternate

Prospective jurors who were dismissed before the jury box was filled included Benjamin Alkire Deercreek-twp Lyall Cryder second ward, Lucille Gilmore fourth ward, Mrs Carrie Runkle Walnut-twp H E Defenbaugh Saltcreek-twp, and Dave Ebert Harrison-twp

MOTION OVERRULED

At the start of the afternoon session Judge Adkins overruled a motion made by defense counsel requesting the prospective jurors be kept in the hall until ready for questioning Attorney Adkins contended the jurors were given an opportunity to formulate answers for the general line of questions being asked when permitted to sit in the courtroom.

HISTORY REPEATS

The following article is reprinted from Harper's Weekly, of the issue dated Oct 10, 1857

It is a gloomy moment in history Not for many years, not in the lifetime of most men who read this paper has there been so much grave and deep depression, never has the future seemed so incalculable as at this time In our own country there is universal commerical prostration and panic and thousands of our poorest fellow-citizens are turned out against the approaching winter without employment, and without the prospect of it.

In France the political caldron seethes and bubbles with uncertainity: Russia hangs as usual like a cloud, dark and silent, upon the horizon of Europe, while all the energies, resources and influences of the British Empire are sorely tried, and are yet to be tried more sorely, in coping with the vast and deadly Indian insurrection, and with its disturbed relations in China

It is a solemn moment, and no man can feel indifference, (which happily no man pretends to feel) in the issue of events

Of our own troubles no man can see the end They are fortunately, as yet mainly commerical; and if we are only to lose money, and by painful poverty to be taught wisdom — the wisdom of humor, of faith, of sympathy and of charity —no man need seriously to despair. And yet the very haste to be rich, which is the occasion of this widespread calamity, has also tended to destroy the moral forces with which we are to resist and subdue the calamity.

ASSASSIN MOB

who took charge of the investigation immediately after the slaying, thought it probable that the gunmen were out to "get" Coll, for whose death his sworn foe, Schultz, was said to have posted $50,000

The dead were:
Emely Torrizello, 32.
Fiorie Basile, 40.
Patsy Del Greco, Coll's chief lieutenant.

The wounded:
Mrs Lena Vineiguerra, 40, wounded in the arm.
Louis Basile, 40, wounded near heart, probably will die.
Joseph Parrone, 19, wounded in arm.

CHILDREN UNHURT

Two children were in the room while the massacre was in progress, but were not hurt. Two other children were in an adjoining room.

Parrone's father, somewhat deaf, was asleep in his apartment in the rear of the same house during the shooting but was not awakened by it.

Fiorio Basile was reputed to be Coll's bodyguard. He was believed by police to be a brother of Michael Basile, arrested recently with Coll on charges of conspiring to commit a crime.

Coll himself was cleared after a trial a few weeks ago of the charge of participating in the Harlem baby massacre last summer

Four men, who were present as the room in which festivities were planned was turned into a shambles by the gunmen and who escaped without injury, were taken into custody by police and questioned

Authorities believed the fatal descent grew out of the sworn enmity between Coll and Schultz. The feud already has cost more than a dozen lives Once allies, Coll and Schultz, split to become rivals in the beer racket.

TELLS OF FRAY

The wounded Lena told police of the affray:

"The door in an instant was jammed with men and guns," she said. "They pushed in. They didn't say anything, just started shooting."

Del Greco's body was found behind a card table. The dead woman lay in a corner of the room, a bullet having pierced her head.

The shooting took place in the apartment of Mrs. Margaret Zizzardi, her husband and two young sons. It was one of the latter, who after the wholesale killing slipped from the house and notified a policeman.

BUREAU PLANS TRAINING SCHOOL

A training school in farm accounts will be held at the Farm Bureau Home here Tuseday., February 9th from 10 a m to 3·30 p m

J. C. Neff, farm management specialist, Ohio State University will assist H. S Lewis, county agent in conducting the accounting school

The morning program will be devoted to a discussion of methods of taking inventories and making entries of income and expenses in opening a new record.

The afternoon program will be comprised of the summarizations of the farm accounts and of an analysis of the records to determine those profits which have paid most economic returns.

Farm records are doubly essential during a period of low prices as a means of gauging plans for future farm organizations.

A farm account serves as a gauge through which the returns from crops and various livestock enterprizes may be compared.

Anyone interested in this accounting school is welcome to attend.

AT THE CLIFTONA

William Boyd, that "double-dyed" deceiver of the film plots, is back in his celluloid element again in "The False Madonna," Paramount romance-drama of modern life which comes to the Cliftona Theater tomorrow for two days.

Boyd's most memorable characterizations have been those of "bad men." He was Gary Cooper's antagonist in "The Spoilers," and tried to spoil the romance of Richard Arlen and Mary Brian in "Gun Smoke." In "The Gang Buster" he tried to bust things up between Jack Oakie and Jean Arthur. In "The Road to Reno" he was the would-be nemesis of Buddy Rogers and Peggy Shannon.

In "The False Madonna," Boyd appears as the master-mind of a gang of crooks who operate in three continents, mulcting their victims of millions of dollars. Kay Francis is seen as one of the gang an erstwhile respectable society woman, beautiful, stylish, well-mannered. It is when Kay is sent out as the chief decoy in a scheme to return the missing mother to a youth who will inherit a vast fortune that Boyd's empire of crookedness falls about his head For Kay balks at the deceitfulness of her errand, after she develops a motherly love for their youthful intended victim

AT THE GRAND

Clarence Darrow, noted attorney and lecturer, describes himself as an "amateur evolutionist" in "The Mystery of Life," a Universal picture which comes to the Grand In replying to a question as to his interest in the subject he says in the opening scene

"My father brought me up on Darwin and Huxley and Haeckel, and evolution with us was a household word. Of course, I never had a chance to work in a scientific laboratory, but I've always been sort of an amateur evolutionist So when the Dayton, Tenn trial came along my interest was more than legal I thought that if they could send a man to jail for talking evolution I didn't know but my turn would come next I've always been a pretty free talker myself and I began to get worried"

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK
by Edson R. Waite

That advertisers should work out a well-planned program of constructive, result-getting advertising and then follow that straight road to success.

A business always goes forward or backward

The vision of some advertisers needs broadening out.

They should realize what well-directed advertising would do for their business.

Every business should advertise; throw down the screens, let the world know who they are, where they are and what they have to offer.

Advertising through the printed pages is the better way to better business.

Well advertised goods are the kind that satisfy cautious people as only well advertised goods have a reputation of being of standard quality and recognized leadership.

Dealers who carry well advertised lines can confidently and proudly offer these goods to their customers with every assurance that they are offering them the best

In Simple Language

BREVITY and clarity are considered desirable today in all communications and exchanges of ideas. It was not always so, for once upon a time profundity and obscurity were almost synonymous terms and some very small thinking was often dressed in elaborate and ostentatious phraseology. But nowadays the general effort is to make complicated things as simple as possible and their presentation, principally because otherwise nobody will pay much attention to them.

Dr. Robert Hance, of the University of Pittsburgh, applied this principle in making recommendations to the Pennsylvania Academy of Science. He suggested that public interest in science matters depend on public understanding of what it all means. This involves a brief and simple statement of scientific discoveries which he who runs may read and also understand.

Dr Hance is probably aware of the danger which lurks in his suggestion. There are a great many matters of science which simply cannot be resolved into simplicity. There are others which are made inaccurate and quite unscientific when reduced to words of one or two syllables and divested of all qualifications. Damage has already been done by the popularization of science, for there are popular dogmas of scientific belief which no sound scientist would approve. But the effort to free the facts of science from the fog of words is, nevertheless, commendable and in keeping with the true scientist's passion for the unembroidered and unprejudiced truth.

The greatest truths, at least, are simple ones, and these are better and more beautiful without the flowers of speech and graces of rhetoric with which they are often disguised.

Souvenir Hunting

SOUVENIR hunting has a history, to which this generation has no intention of writing finis.

Three centuries ago the local Indians stole scalps as souvenirs of happy moments spent among the paleface settlers. A century later the more enterprising of the settlers were seizing ships. By some they were called pirates, by others patroits. A hundred years ago the souvenir-hunting fever ran to effigies of congressmen. Today it runs to everything.

Nothing is safe from this ubiquitous pest. Wrecked automobiles are quickly dismantled. Epoch-making airplanes must be protected against them. Lindbergh's shirts seldom come back from the laundry. Home-run baseballs and balls hit into the bleachers never return to the playing field. Hotels and pullman cars keep the nation supplied with towels, linen and useful little knick-knacks.

Plymouth Rock was being chipped away to nothingness until a steel barrier was built around it. The federal government must be constantly on guard against souvenir hunting vandals who knock chips from monuments and public buildings. Not even the monuments on the Gettysburg battlefield are safe.

When the souvenir craze hits a citizen he usually loses all reason, morality, honesty, honor, sentiment and discretion. He seeks to justify his purloinings and spoliations by the strange logic that the taking of that possessed of only commemorative or sentimental value cannot be stealing.

The incurable time has arrived when hotels must chain fast their Gideon Bibles.

Family Cash

FORTY-ONE per cent of the wealth of the United States is in the hands of women, financial statisticians estimate. This includes real estate, stocks, bonds and cash in bank. That places womanhood as an important 'prospect' for banks and investment brokers.

Theoretically, then, 59 per cent of the wealth is owned by men. Theoretically is used advisedly, for if the pay checks issues to husbands and bank accounts in their names were credited to the wives who really control them, the percentages would be reversed.

Poor man! He is in a sorrier condition than the figures indicate, disconcerting though they are. How far off is the time when husbands will be arguing indignantly with their wives for a generous allowance, instead of doling money out to their wives in grudging spirit.

Neuritis If Neglected Too Long Takes Years To Cure

Disease, Often Due to Some Injury, Involves Inflammation of Either Motor or Sensory Nerves; Neuralgia Is More Rapidly Cured

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
United States Senator from New York
Former Commissioner of Health New York City

NEURITIS is an inflammation of what doctors call the "peripheral nerves." In simple language these are nerves that supply the body, arms and legs. An attack of neuritis may be followed by some disturbance in the power of motion of the part involved, or the sense of feeling may be affected. Sometimes the health and vigor of the parts supplied by the affected nerves are impaired.

Many cases of neuritis can be traced to injury. That is why it is frequently met in fractures of the bones or in dislocations. Sometimes inflammation of nearby structures may spread to a nerve. In nerves near the surface, as those of the face, exposure to severe cold may be the exciting cause. Interference with the blood supply of a limb may produce a typical attack of neuritis.

The symptoms of the disease depend upon the kind of nerve involved. If the nerve is one that controls motion—a motor nerve only—there may be little pain but there will be marked inability to move the limb. This lack of power varies all the way from a slight limitation of motion to complete paralysis.

When a sensory nerve—one having to do with feeling—is inflamed, the pain is severe. It is made worse by movement, and is accompanied by tenderness along the course of the nerve. There may be numbness in the [illegible] ted region.

The course of the neuritis depends on the success of the treatment [illegible] to find and remove the [illegible]. Even under favorable circumstances recovery is apt to be [illegible]. It may take months or even [illegible] for complete restoration to health. In some cases where treatment has been delayed the muscles have become so weakened that perfect recovery is impossible.

Absolute rest is essential. No medical treatment is worth while unless the limb is kept without movement.

Neuralgia is indicated by pain in the nerve. It occurs in paroxysms. There is no inflammation of the [illegible] as in neuritis but there is irritation of the nerve in some part of its course.

The nerves of the face are most frequently affected but the nerves of the chest and back may also suffer. This is the case in the disease called "shingles," which is always associated with an obstinate neuralgia.

Neuralgia occurs most frequently in persons of the nervous type and in those who are anemic and over worked. The exciting irritation in facial neuralgia may be traced sometimes to defective or impacted teeth, or to infection of the nasal sinuses.

During an attack the area involved may be slightly flushed. The skin is swollen. In facial neuralgia an excessive flow of tears is noted and sometimes also an increased secretion of saliva. Severe attacks may be accompanied by forcible convulsive movements of the jaws.

In cases of neuralgia the discovery of the cause is of the utmost importance. This must be removed because so long as a nerve is irritated, no amount of medicine will permanently relieve the trouble. Neglected and untreated cases are apt to grow worse.

SORE THROAT

There's a world of winter comfort in Bayer Aspirin tablets. If you take them only to break-up colds, you know only half the story. Some tablets crushed in a little water will relieve the sorest throat with one good gargle. That's what the specialists use in cases of sore throat. That's what you ought to use at home—every time you want throat comfort and protection from infection. Remember, every case of tonsilitis began with just a sore throat! Don't neglect any sore throat. Gargle with Bayer Aspirin at the first tickling felt. Take a couple of tablets for that headache that comes with a cold—for neuralgia, neuritis, or similar pain. If it's genuine Bayer, it can't hurt the heart.

SYNOPSIS

Young and beautiful Fanchon Meredith leaves San Francisco by airplane to escape arrest in connection with a murder in which her sweetheart, Tony, is implicated. She had not known that he was a gunman. Evelyn Howard, whom Fanchon had met on a voyage from Hawaii, is aboard. She is enroute to New York to live with her wealthy aunt, Mrs. Allison Carstairs, whom she has never seen. The plane crashes and all but Fanchon are killed. Grasping the opportunity to start life anew, Fanchon goes to the Carstairs home as Evelyn. Mrs. Carstairs' affection wins her heart. At Southampton, awaiting the arrival of her son, Collin, Mrs. Carstairs warns Fanchon not to take him seriously. He arrives and accuses Fanchon of being there under false pretenses. Collin objects to "Evelyn." Fanchon learns that Evelyn had indiscreet affairs with a naval officer and a native. Fanchon's sincerity in explaining that "her" indiscretion was only folly overcomes Collin's antagonism. A warm comradeship ensues and together they spend a happy summer.

CHAPTER XVI

From enmity and armed truce she and Collin Carstairs had grown into a very fine friendship. She was grateful to him for taking her at her word and for never, by word or sign, referring again to the original clash of their meeting and its cause. She and he had a mutual bond in their great love for Jennie Carstairs, they also liked the same things, laughed at the same jokes, were responsive to the same chords of beauty.

They were perfectly mated. And she knew, lying there, trying to picture a world without him, even with Jennie, that she had fallen in love with him. Not suddenly, wildly, girlishly, as she had with Tony. Not unthinkingly, not even romantically. Not perhaps fallen into love at all. She had rather grown into love through friendship . . . all the long lazy, sunny summer through. And it was a mature love which twisted her with agony upon her bed as she lay listening to Emma's soft footsteps, listening to the sea outside of her open windows, to the laughter of someone on the grounds.

It was unthinkable.

In the first place she was an imposter. She was not Evelyn Howard. And had she been Evelyn Howard the barrier of blood would have stood between her and the consummation of her love.

Only by telling him who she was, only by confessing to him that she was not Evelyn, could that barrier be removed. And that step she was not prepared to take and could not face taking.

The enormity of her offense came to her more and more clearly. If, she thought, wildly, Collin would only go away as he had said he would do, and go away quickly she could perhaps win back to peace again, with Jennie, with Jennie's kindness and love to protect her. But now every step she took seemed charged with peril; at any moment the ground might open and swallow her up.

She knew that Collin loved her. She was a perfectly modern girl; men had loved her before, she knew the symptoms. She faced them. She would not hide behind a pretense of not knowing that he cared.

She made it for the rest of their stay at Southampton as difficult as possible for him to be alone with her. There always were others. She was very popular in the colony with the girls her own age as well as with the men. Mrs Carstairs watched the evidences of this popularity with growing pleasure and pride.

"Evelyn could have any man in Southampton," Jennie said one day to her son.

"I suppose so. And no one's good enough for her," he growled, unthinkingly.

His mother smiled, quizzically. He looked up and caught the expression.

"Oh, I know what you're thinking," he confessed, smiling wryly in his turn . . . "but after knowing her, no one could believe all that rot! A lot of dried up old spinsters I suppose, putting the wrong interpretation on everything."

"That's what I thought . . . from the beginning," his mother said, placidly but now her tone caught [illegible] latedly at her heart and she said quickly the placidity gone. "Oh Collin—dear!"

He knew then. Knew that she knew. He said with half a groan

"I know. I—what can I say or do? I'm sorry, mother."

For an instant Jennie Carstairs regretted [illegible] that she had ever asked Evelyn Howard to come to them. Much as she loved the girl and she did love her very dearly her son came first. Collin must always come first. That her own innocent act of generosity and duty of atonement she admitted had been the cause of unhappiness to him was very bitter to her. But there was no[illegible] she could do. She said gently [illegible]

"[illegible] Your cousin."

[illegible] could [illegible] Evelyn, she reminded herself. The daughter she had always wanted. [illegible] Evelyn she would have been able to keep Collin beside her. She couldn't send Evelyn away, moreover she cared too much for her to contemplate it. But—Collin must go for whom she cared far more. It was a hopeless tangle a vicious circle.

For the rest of their stay Collin devoted himself lightly and casually to one of the pretty girls he had known for some time and [illegible] gave strong evidence of delight at his attention.

"Sally," said Jennie Carstairs to Fanchon, "Sally and Collin seem to be [illegible] devoted."

"[illegible] awfully pretty," [illegible] Fanchon [illegible] Sally [illegible] person."

Beware of a fat that smokes easily

Protect your digestion with Crisco—the fat that deep fries without smoking

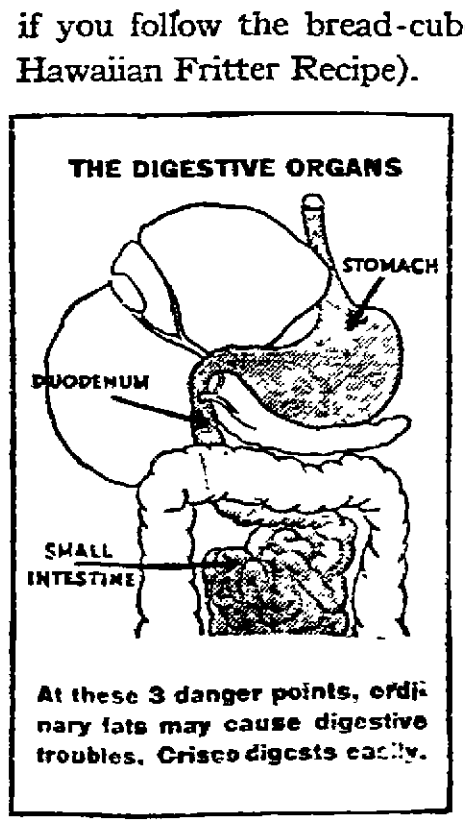
These fritters taste great. But will they agree with me?
Don't you worry! I fried them in Crisco, the digestible cooking fat.

Do you follow the old rule—"When a fat smokes it's ready to fry in"? Don't! Remember that a smoking fat is burning. And a burnt fat is decomposed fat—indigestible.

Protect your digestion by frying with a fat that does not smoke at correct deep-frying heat. Crisco does not smoke if you follow the bread-cube test (see Hawaiian Fritter Recipe).

Crisco-fried foods are easy to digest. Why? Because Crisco itself is digestible. It is not just a "compound." It is a pure, wholesome fat, made by Crisco's own secret process to keep sweet, fresh and digestible!

Serve Hawaiian Fritters tonight. Your husband will love their fruitiness. And if his digestion tends to be touchy, he'll thank you for frying them in digestible Crisco!



At these 3 danger points, ordinary fats may cause digestive troubles. Crisco digests easily.

Cheap fats may turn rancid or indigestible

Unknown Wives of Well Known Men Is Subject At Monday Club

The Monday Club held its February meeting last evening at the club room with a good attendance of members. After the usual business session the readers were introduced by Mrs. Charles Gerhardt in the absence of the regular chairman of this division.

The first reader was Mrs. G. H Adkins, whose subject was "Unknown Wives of Well-known Men." Mrs. Adkins said in part

"Marriage is such an all-pervading institution that most great men are married.' She referred first to a woman of the 16th century Katherine Von Bora, wife of the great reformer, Martin Luther, who when quite young and after the death of her mother was placed in a convent when she was about sixteen years old and ready to take the veil, the influence of Martin Luther began to be felt and she with a number of others became so dissatisfied that they escaped from the convent and some time after that she became the wife of the reformer. Katherine was said to be a very proud, high spirited girl, of strong character and unusual gifts, had a fair education and was much interested in her husband's reformation work. Their domestic life was happy and their hospitable home sheltered six children of their own besides several orphaned nephews and nieces and numerous impoverished students. Her husband cherished her and once remarked that he had a pious and true wife.

"Anne Hathaway, wife of Shakespeare and the mother of three children became an invalid at the age of sixty and died at the age of sixty-seven."

Mrs. Adkins said Milton must have had some appeal of which we have not heard; blind, stern and with no sense of humor yet he had three wives, the first, Mary Powell, the second Katherine Wood Eoke and the third Elizabeth Minshall, who cared for him till his death. Grace Fletcher who became the wife of Daniel Webster, was warmly sympathetic with the great work of her husband and was capable of appreciating him both intellectually and morally Theirs was a happy home. She mentioned the wives of the three presidents who were married in the same year 1886. The Clevelands, the Roosevelts, and the Tafts. Mrs. Taft being the only woman in the history of America to whom the two greatest honors have come, the wife of the Chief Justice and the first lady. Mrs. Einstein was spoken of as a cheerful, witty, wise and motherly woman and Mrs Edison as the custodian of one of the greatest geniuses, the world has ever known. Clara Bryant, the wife of Henry Ford never lost faith in the funny looking thing Henry was assembling on the old barn floor. She kept telling him that it would go and one night about two o'clock and raining it did go with a bang that shook the neighbors out of their beds but it did not shake the faith of the young bride. Mrs. Ford has a friendly personality and seldom does one get beyond the entrance hall without a hand shake.

Mrs. G. D. Phillips was next introduced and had as her subject, "Women of the World War"

"Women of the year 1917 following the precedent set by women during other wars of all ages, displayed even more patriotism, self-sacrifice and leadership than did the women of the earlier wars.

There seems to be two outstanding reasons why American women more than the women of any other country, in the World War, were to furnish an example to the world, of women's efficiency and woman's power. First, the fact that so large a proportion of American women are organized; second, the fact that the value of woman's work in the prosecution of war, was immediately recognized by the United States government and by individual national leaders This recognition on the part of the government was expressed in the prompt creation of the Woman's committee of the council of national defense.

When the government created its war organization it followed the precedent set by the Creator of the Universe, in that it created man first and woman a side issue. However, one group could not have won the war without the other. The women in this great conflict had many places to fill. There were nurses who went to the front, nurses who stayed at home and worked through the epidemics, child welfare workers to help those particularly whose fathers were at the front. The home makers helped by conservation of food and by giving moral support. Women physicians gave service at the convalescent hospitals at home so that the medical men could go to the front. In 1917 the American women made thirty-six million dollars worth of garments for the troops abroad. Early in the war Lloyd George said that one hundred pounds sterling might determine which nation would win. Herbert Hoover said "Food will win the war." So every American house wife was asked to garden, can, preserve and save all food possible"

Mrs. Phillips spoke of the great work done by the Red Cross and that there were probably more women working in the Red Cross than in any other division of war-work, and as time went on there were more and better trained workers Women everywere put their automobiles at the service of the Red Cross

The General Federation of Women's Clubs with a membership of approximately three million, formed one of the largest and strongest of the women's war machines and was one of the first organizations to offer its services to the government Mrs Vincent Astor in charge of the first canteen at Brest and Mrs Theodore Roosevelt, Jr, who opened the first canteen in Paris were two pioneers of more than three thousand Y. W. C A workers

In Bordeaux was a center of activity famous to all and near the entrance to the tea room on the third floor was 'Mother's Corner, where one of the women workers was always in attendance, ready to talk to the boys, admire their sweetheart's picture, sew on a button or mend a torn blouse

Mrs Phillips gave a short description of the War Pantheon in Paris. This painting is three hundred and sixty feet long and forty five feet high and fifty artists spent four years painting it Mention was made of a few of the outstanding women as "Queen Elizabeth of Belgium, who saw active service at the front, Edith Cavell, Evangeline Booth, commander of the Salvation Army

It was said that during this war the women were "splendid" and that they "found themselves" as never before

"LIGHT RATES?

As Phil Cook, the radio artist, says, "We see by the papers" (Columbus Dispatch, Jan 26) that the S. V. R. & P. has filed a new schedule of rates for electric light and power for Canal Winchester and Groveport. This new schedule makes our rates look like war time prices. Some little time ago, our local power company offered to reduce their rates in Circleville and offered to sell their "juice" to us for 9c per kwh for the first 50; 6c for the next 50; and 4c for all over 100 kwh. These rates were to apply to both the domestic and the commercial user Since these rates seemed to be in line with those charged in our neighboring city of Chillicothe, our city dads adopted an ordinance accepting their proposition.

Understand, please, that we're not blaming any one for this action—it looked alright at the time—BUT, rates for electric energy began to drop all around us and we're still paying our 9-6-4 rate. The Dispatch as mentioned above, stated that our neighboring cities on the north will secure a rate of 6c for each kwh up to 50; the next 75 at 5c and the next 100-kwh at 4c These rates apply to domestic use Commercial users get a rate of 6c for each kwh up to 50, the second 50 at 4c, and the next 350 at only 3c. SOME RATES compared with our 9-6-4 rate

Here's a concrete example December bill for current used at H G's home showed that he used 46 kwh which, at 9c cost $4 14 When Canal Winchester and Groveport rates take effect, this amount of current will cost a user up there, only $2 76, or a saving of $1 38 for one month STEVENSON'S used a total of 121-kwh in December at a cost of $8.34 business houses in the aforesaid towns, when the new rates take effect, will use the same amount of current, for only $5.63, or a saving of $2 71 over what this store paid in Circleville

Wouldn't it make a "feller" feel good if the local power office would tell the city dads that they are going to reduce their rates in spite of their ordinance, to conform with general conditions?"

One day last week, while Mrs Thurn, the director of the cooking school, was in our store she happened to notice a maple bed-room suite in the Colonial design She remarked how beautiful it was and what a lovely room it would make in any home She also observed a bridge-set (folding table and four chairs) and remarked that these sets make ideal wedding presents With so many people interested in bridge, and other card games it does seem very practical The set that Mrs Thurn saw is a beautiful one finished in black and trimmed in gold. Since it sells for only $14.25, the cost is not exorbitant

'Tis said that Emanuel Dresbach was looking at a cow that belonged to a farmer friend "Mannie" asked him if she gave lots of milk The farmer replied "No I can't say as she gives lots of milk but "Mannie" I can tell you this She's a kind gentle, good-natured old cow and if she's got any milk she'll give it to you"

* * *

Well what are you ladies doing this week? Practicing on all the good things that Mrs Thurn told you about last week? We'll bet our bottom dollar that there'll be a lot of sleeker looking husbands around Roundtown from now on But all joshing aside we'd say that the School was a howling success and that we'll all be looking forward to another next year Some one has said that the ladies will now get back to their card parties All right, we're prepared to supply you with tables and sets. Yes and if you want a few extra folding chairs just phone us and we'll deliver them to you and save you the bother of asking your neighbors for their spare chairs The rental is indeed very small

Speaking about the School reminds us that H G and his better (?) half have a crow to pick with Mrs Thurn for airing our disputes about the prettiest dining room suite before the feminine population of Circleville But we'll just forget that and say that you will agree with both of us, we're quite sure, that both of the suites shown were lovely sets of furniture We realized that not all folks would "fall" for that dainty mahogany Colonial (Duncan Phyffe) suite so we sent down (for the last two days) a more massive oak suite which reflected the early English influence We had many nice compliments on both suites: some liked one while others liked the other one If you didn't get to see them carefully, drop down to 148 W Main and see them In all of our experience of nearly 16 years in the furniture business we've never had the opportunity to present such wonderful bargains in period dining furniture The Colonial (mahogany) at only $120 for eight-pieces and the English (oak) for only $162.50 for nine-pieces We'll deduct the china, if you don't want it.

We had another example of sending away for goods the other day A man came in and asked for repairs for an oil stove that he had "sent away for" Naturally we couldn't supply him. But we do carry parts for the brands that we sell. Again, let us say, when you buy in Circleville, you get more than mere merchandise —you get SERVICE

Ain't it the truth? Here's a new definition of the word 'deficit' given by a school-boy:

It's what you've got when you haven't as much as you had when you had nothin'" (Every one that believes that is a good answer hold up your right hand Ah! We see many hands

We recently had a talk with a lady resident of N Scioto-st relative to bed-springs We asked her to try one of our good springs for a few nights and if she didn't like it to return it. Well we're glad to report that she sent us her check so, we presume she likes the spring Let us talk over these things with you It may be that we can improve YOUR bed with a De Luxe or a PERFECTION Only a guilty conscience can keep you awake when using either of them.

Where War Is Rumbling

This map shows the situation of the various settlements at Shanghai, now in the throes of disturbances between Japanese and Chinese. The shaded portion is the international settlement, peopled by Americans, British and French Police of these nations maintain order in their own particular districts. To the north of the settlement is Chapei, inhabited by Chinese and a large number of Japs This is the district where Japanese planes dropped their bombs. U S. Marines and British troops are standing by inside the settlement to repel any invasion of their concessions.

OFFICIALS OF U.S. WATCHING

by the United States and British governments that strong additional naval and military forces were being rushed to Shanghai The question is now largely what Japan proposes to do to pull herself out of the situation as a result of her lawless attempt at military occupation of Shanghai.

The attempt by Admiral Shiozawa to occupy the Chapei district with a naval landing force totally inadequate in numbers, and the subsequent reckless and wanton disregard of international rights in the international settlement by the forces under his command, has brought Japan the energetic protests of the most powerful nations of the world. It has resulted in the concentration at Shanghai of the most powerful international naval and military force seen in Chinese waters since the Boxer rebellion. It has turned a blazing light of international inspection and suspicion upon Japanese military activities in Manchuria which heretofore had aroused some international objection, but had been accepted with a minimum of protest.

WILL COST JAPAN

The Shanghai incident may cost Japan all the victories won by her armies in Manchuria and more It already has cost her most of what international good will and trust remained to her as a result of her army's activities in Manchuria Even France, which heretofore had looked with passive eyes upon Japanese military activities, has now been moved to join the British-American protest concerning Shanghai

Dorothy Mackaill is one of those great something-or-others which like Bobby Burns, tam-o-shanters and Scotch mist and she's as popular in Hollywood as golf, another Scotch import. Her favorite pet is a Brazilian monkey. You see the monk in the new FIRST NATIONAL PICTURE, "SAFE IN HELL." Dorothy has smoked LUCKIES for six years, and not a cent was paid for her statement, so we're making a sweeping bow and saying, "Thanks, Dorothy Mackaill."
